Example:

I am	I'm trying to	But	Because	Which makes me feel a second-year engineering student with a packed class schedule	stay focused and perform well academically	I often skip breakfast and rely on fast food between classes	I don't have time to plan or cook a balanced meal in the morning	sluggish, unfocused, and less productive during lectures
a first-year student living away from home during exam season	manage academic stress without compromising my health	I end up stress-eating comfort food and junk snacks late at night	I don't have healthy, quick alternatives easily available near my hostel	guilty, anxious, and low on energy the next day
