

Define CS: define OC	1. WHO IS YOUR CUSTOMER? CS Students, working professionals, families, and health-conscious individuals who want to understand their dietary habits and lifestyle patterns.	WHAT CONSTRAINTS PREVENT YOUR CUSTOMERS FROM TAKING ACTION OR THEIR CHOICES CC Lack of awareness about healthy dietary habits, limited time, difficulty tracking food habits, and lack of clear information about their lifestyle patterns.	WHICH SOLUTIONS ARE AVAILABLE TO THE CUSTOMERS WHEN THEY FACE THE PROBLEM? AS Users may use diet-planning applications, fitness applications, health websites, spreadsheets, or manually track their food and lifestyle habits.	Explore AS: differentiate
	2. JOBS-TO-BE-DONE / PROBLEMS J&P Users want to understand their eating habits, breakfast consumption, eating-out frequency, cooking frequency, and overall lifestyle patterns so that they can make better-informed lifestyle decisions.	9. PROBLEM ROOT CAUSE RC The main root cause is the lack of simple and meaningful analysis of dietary and lifestyle data. Users may have information about their habits but cannot easily identify patterns and trends from raw data.	7. BEHAVIOUR BE Users regularly make decisions about food, breakfast, cooking, and eating outside. However, they may not track these habits consistently or understand how their choices form overall lifestyle patterns.
