Empathy Map Canvas:

An empathy map is a simple, easy-to-understand visual tool that captures knowledge about users' behaviours, thoughts, feelings, and attitudes.

It is a useful tool that helps teams better understand their users. Creating an effective solution requires understanding the actual problem and the people who experience it. The process of creating an empathy map helps the team consider the problem from the users' perspective, along with their needs, goals, and challenges.

For our project, "Healthy Lifestyle and Dietary Habits Analysis using Tableau," the empathy map helps our team understand people's dietary habits and lifestyle patterns. It focuses on their food choices, breakfast consumption, cooking frequency, eating-out habits, and other lifestyle factors.

By understanding the users' thoughts, behaviours, feelings, difficulties, and expectations, the team can identify important areas for analysis and develop meaningful Tableau visualizations and dashboards.
